

SCHOOL TRIP TO THE THEATRE

Last Thursday, November 10th, we (Filipa and Eva) accompanied several classes from grades 2-8 from the special primary school to the theatre. The play was called “Motyl” (which means butterfly) and was about a young girl who was afraid of going to sleep in the dark and the dream she had one night. It showed which emotions children could face related to fears and night terrors.

The children seemed to have enjoyed the play.

The theatre was located downtown so we went there by tram. It is a nice old building.

We supported the children and thanks to the multilingual character of the trip, everyone could practice foreign languages.
